

Hello all,

I hope you are all doing well and not missing school too much!

This is what I have been up to this past week.

Once my brother's screaming and playing have forced me out of bed (you all know I'm more of a teacher to them than a sister!) I walk downstairs, eat my breakfast and start the day. During the week I prepared work for you to complete and other teacher work but don't worry I did relax on the weekend and this is what I did...

On Saturday, I stayed in bed till 2pm... Oops.

However, I was very productive the rest of the day as I spent the whole day watching Disney movies. My favourite is Beauty and the Beast, what's yours?

It's a nice escape from reality and the news. For me, it's not very healthy for your mind to always listen to or read the news so I have created a rule in my house. Only the adults watch the news for any updates and then we tell the important information to the children, like how they can keep themselves safe during this time. On the other hand, you can always watch Newsround. Mr Ali has more information on that on his weekly message.

I spent most of Sunday in the garden as the weather was lovely. I did some exercises to keep my body active (Joe Wick has been giving me ideas!) and then read a book. I have found that having some extra time has given me the chance to read all the books that I have wanted to read for the longest time. The first book on my list is, The Book Thief by Markus Zusak.

For those of you that don't have many books at home or if you have read them all, visit this website -

There are five classic stories that you can read and listen to online!

I'll be back after Easter to reveal the answer to this week's riddle. Until then, I am thinking of you all. Stay safe, keep smiling and never lose hope. We will get through this TOGETHER.

Speak to you soon,

Miss Ramzan.

The answer to last week's riddle is 'On a map'. Well done to those of you that got the answer!

This week's riddle is:
How many letters are there in The English Alphabet?
